✚ Welcome/Introductions: Dr. Marv Pichla

✚ I&E Presenter: Rhonda Deeg

✚ Rhonda L. Deeg, born in Kokomo, IN only a few blocks from Kokomo Opalescent Glass, has devoted much of her career to teaching the construction trades and historic preservation in the vocational trades. Rhonda also has over 30 years' experience in stained and art glass repair and restoration and is sole owner of RLD Glass Art. A large percentage of her business includes the restoration/repair and conservation of window and door panels for historic buildings, both in commercial and residential types, dating from the early 1800's through the 20th century. She also sources vintage glass for replacement and uses her art background to include adaptive re-creations, traditional painting, and mosaics with glass. Her new commissions are created using inspirations from the love she has for architectural details, abstract designs, and the natural environment.

She is a member of many local, state, and national organizations including Preservations Trades Network, Kentucky Heritage Council, Indiana Landmarks, Stained Glass Association of America, American Glass Guild and the Society of American Mosaic Artists. See more of Rhonda's work in her Reflections Newsletter or on her Facebook page or web site at: <http://preservationrho.wix.com/rld-art-glass>. (Also if you join the Ideas Unlimited LIVE podcast, you will hear Rhonda describe the SPECIALTY classes she will have at the ACC Oscoda Campus this Spring!)
