AGENDA

A. Welcome/Introductions: Dr. Marv Pichla

B. I&E Presenter: Lewis Bender, Ph. D.

"The times they are a changing" In another era the singer/lyricist Dylan captured our realities today. People of all ages are facing changes at an unprecedented rate. In every significant sector of our lives, we are either learning or resisting significant changes and trends. Education, retailing, families, transportation, and other significant areas we are engaged in fundamental-behavior altering changes. Where it all goes? We only have educated and uneducated guesses.

This discussion will be facilitated by an old trends junkie professor who has served as an advisor and team builder for police departments and public works and elected and appointed municipal leaders for over four and one-half decades.

Dr. Bender is a specialist in training and organizational development for businesses and governments. He conducts seminars and workshops for management, supervisory, support staff, and customer service employees – anyone who needs to be effective in communicating.
